Your assessment results indicate how similar your interests are to each type. Your personal results are as follows:

Artistic (13)

Conventional (14)

Enterprising (11)

Investigative (7)

Realistic (4)

Social (11)

The purpose of MatchPoint is to help you focus your interests in a career direction. Clearly, you will not arrive at your destination unless you know who you are and what you want. Career paths within an organisation are typified by these various types.

Typical Organisation Chart

Managing Director / Chief Executive

Production & Engineering
Research & Development
Advertising & Promotion
Human Resources
Marketing & Sales
Operations & Finance

Realistic
Investigative Artistic
Social
Enterprising
Conventional

All the types are available for your review. As you study the types, note the descriptions that you identify with" or "fit you". Most people are a combination of two or three types.

Once you have studied all the types and confirmed the types that best describe you, you will be ready to review MatchPoint Type Combinations.

Your top two types are:

Conventional
Artistic

For a description, click on the types below:

Primary Types:

- Conventional
- Artistic
- Social
- Enterprising
- Investigative
- Realistic

For a description, click on the type combinations below:

- Conventional and Artistic
- Conventional and Social
- Conventional and Enterprising
- Conventional and Investigative
- Conventional and Realistic
- Artistic and Social
- Artistic and Enterprising
- Artistic and Investigative
- Artistic and Realistic
- Social and Enterprising
- Social and Investigative
- Social and Realistic
- Enterprising and Investigative
- Enterprising and Realistic
- Investigative and Realistic

MatchPoint
Profiles Type Details

Artistic and Conventional/A-C and C-A

Percent of males: 0.01; Percent of females: 0.01

The A-C and C-A types like to bring order out of chaos. They tend to be good at organising and structuring a problem area and making sure everything is running smoothly. They are willing to try new or different methods to be as efficient as possible. Once they have brought order and everyone is trained, however, they often become bored and restless. These types need a different assignment or a new area where they can apply organisational skills.

Their restlessness may become a problem for them. They do not like drastic change, but they do not want too much routine either. It may not be easy for them to fit into a large organisation and stay challenged.

Artistic-Conventional

The A-C types like to bring an organised approach to their creative projects. They are focused in what they do and like to finish what they start. Their creations may be more practical or less risky than those of the Artistic person.

Conventional-Artistic

The C-A types like to work around "pure" Artistic types and bring order to them. They do not take risks, but they enjoy the risks taken by others. They are often rewarded for their ability to keep things running smoothly. Media buyer, fine arts administrator, and museum curator, etc., may be jobs that appeal to them.